Co-founder & CEO: Africarare
Co-founder: Mann Made
CEO: SingularityU South Africa

Mic Mann is one of Africa's most respected futurists and exponential technologists having pioneered some of the continent's seminal technology projects. As the co-founder and CEO of Africarare, Africa's first metaverse, co-founder of award-winning experiential agency Mann Made, and the driving force behind the SingularityU phenomenon, Mic has unbeatable experience in digital innovation. He is a thought leader in Web3, cryptocurrencies, virtual reality and bleeding-edge technologies, with unshakeable optimism and belief in the power of exponential technologies to future proof Africa.

With exposure to events such as Veecon, Dev Connect, SXSW, VM Ware, TED and the SingularityU Executive Programme, Mic is a knowledge house for multinational organizations who draw on his experience to illuminate their strategic thinking. He recently spoke at NFT. NYC, the South African Innovation Summit and consulted to the government of Dubai.

As a sought-after speaker at local and international events, Mic astounds audiences with fresh insights, his relatable approach and unique talent for breaking complex phenomena down into explanations that people can understand.
